

Town Council September 23, 2024 Work Session on Accessory Living Units (ALUs)

Factors for an Ordinance – Council Comments/Guidance Highlighted in Yellow

Policy Question		Council Answer	Background
 What will Vienna call these units Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU)? Town Attorney recommends 		ADU or ALU
the acronym from the State's	defined term for "ADUs"
2. Will the Town allow ALUs on lots homes? On all RS-zoned proper		Y or N	Only single-family detached.
- If only on SF, would there be	a minimum Lot size? What size?		Ok with all single-family zones and lots.
3. Will the Town prohibit ALUs on lo densities? (e.g., townhomes, du	-	Y or N
4. Where on the lot should they be	allowed?
	structure/house? (e.g., basement)	Y or N
- Attached (as an addition) to	the principal structure?	Y or N
- Garage - converted attached	garage?	Y or N	Provided parking requirements are met.
 Garage - converted detached 	d (standalone) garage?	Y or N
 Garage – second story above 	garage (attached)	Y or N
 Garage – second story above 	e garage (detached)	Y or N
- Detached – new constructio	n	Y or N
- Detached – converted existir	ng accessory structure	Y or N
5. Should there be a maximum size	e?	Y or N	No guidance on 9/23. Discuss with draft ordinance.
- If Y, what should that size be	?	#sf	No guidance on 9/23. Discuss with draft ordinance.

 One-bedroom apartments are usually in the range of 550sf – 1,000sf. The average new-built one-bedroom apartments appear to be 750sf-800sf. Options include allowing: Maximum percentage according to size of primary residence (e.g., 35-40% of gross floor area), perhaps with max. sf. Maximum by-right size (e.g., 65sf) and allow something a bit bigger with BZA approval (e.g., 800sf). Maximum sizes in accordance with the size of the lot. (e.g., 650sf for 10,000sf - 12,499sf, 725sf for 12,500sf – 15,999sf, 800sf for 16,000sf and larger) Other? Town Attorney Comment for Consideration – Some older homes in Vienna may more easily lend themselves to ALUs, especially the basement. This may be ½ of the usable square footage of the home (ie. a Yeonas built rambler) 		There is a wide range in jurisdictions, between 500 and 1,200 square feet (or more). Some establish a maximum percentage of the floor area of the principal structure, and some combine the two. FFx Co – interior ALU, no more than 40% of principal dwelling, with a maximum of 800 square feet, whichever is less. The size limitation may be exceeded with special permit approval. The entirety of the basement may be used FFx City – restricts to 35% of total gross floor area of principal dwelling. Falls Church – 650 sf on lots 10,000 sf or larger. Rockville, MD – no greater than 50% of floor area of primary dwelling, though the entire basement may be used.
 How is the decision/approval made? By-right, by special approval (i.e., Board of Zoning Appeals approval), or mixed? 	Staff approval (by right), BZA approval (special approval) or mixed ?	Potentially some components per BZA approval.
 7. Maximum height? If Y, one story? Two stories? Absolute number of height (e.g., 14-16 feet)? 	Y or N N/A	35 feet remains in force No detached ALUs permitted

8. Limit on number of bedrooms?	Y or N	No guidance on 9/23. Discuss with draft ordinance.
 If Y, 1 or 2? Town Attorney Comment – At some point the ALU would really just become more like a duplex and may not be what the TC is intending. 	1 or 2	No guidance on 9/23. Discuss with draft ordinance. Typical to have these limits, though TC may choose another option. TOV could say 1 by right and 2 if BZA approval.
9. Restriction of 1 ADU/ALU per lot?	Y or N
10. Will extra parking be required?	Y or N	No guidance on 9/23. Discuss with draft ordinance.
 Staff suggests that one off-street space more than the normal requirement for the principal structure on the lot. Does TC wish for this requirement? 	Y or N	No guidance on 9/23. Discuss with draft ordinance. Typical provision
11. Maximum number of occupants?	Y or N	No guidance on 9/23. Discuss with draft ordinance.
- If Y, 2 or 3?	2 or 3	Those are typical limits. TC may choose a different number?
12. Restrict to certain populations (e.g., seniors and/or disabled)?	Y or N
- If Y for restricting, who will be permitted?
 13. Require that ALUs not be allowed for short-term rentals (e.g., under 30 days)? Town Attorney Comment – The current Zoning Ordinance does not permit short term rentals in SF zones. 	Y or N
14. Must the owner live on site (in either unit)?	Y or N
15. Would all other zoning requirements remain in force? (lot coverage, setbacks, etc.)	Y or N

16. Should TOV require Fairfax County building code approval before	Y or N
TOV approves?
Town Attorney Comment – The Town Attorney would recommend this condition and perhaps the requirement for an application and inspection provision. This is a health and safety concern that sleeping areas meet the Uniform State Building Code requirements and the ALU satisfies ingress/egress standards.	