My mother has dementia . She is in her late 80's. She was locked away during the pandemic. A bright spot, for her and all of us, was going to Blend111 and eating outdoors. She grew up in Ecuador. While we ate, she came alive, telling stories about her youth and food. That day, sitting in the courtyard, watching my mother remember courtyard meals from her past, was magical.

Please let the magic continue

B Shor

Hello and thank you for considering our request to consider a continuation of the outdoor dining at Blend 111. As regular patrons to the restaurant, we have been able to enjoy and support Blend 111 throughout the pandemic these past 20 months. If not for the patio dining, I do not think the establishment would have survived the downturn in the economy that affected so many other locally owned and supported small businesses throughout Virginia and the country at large.

It is our patriotic duty to do all that we can, as individual citizens of this great country, to support the backbone of America's small business community. Please help us to help Blend 111 keep its outdoor patio dining open for the betterment of the community, the people that support the restaurant and, just as importantly, the people and families that benefit from their employment at Blend 111.

Thank you and kind regards-

Good morning -

Please note that my husband and I support Blend 111's continuation of the use of the outdoor patio space. We have enjoyed a number of meals at Blend 111 and know that without the additional space, the restaurant would struggle to meet the concerns of its patrons. We are hopeful that you consider extending this use.

Thank you.

Please add my voice to those in favor of retaining the outdoor space at Blend 111. I have experienced dining there several times. To me it resembles a courtyard; a unique space unlike any other that I'm aware of in Vienna. In the years to come, I can imagine Blend 111 improving on the concept, consistent with the creativity they've shown with their cuisine and their interior decor. Blend 111 has helped Vienna become a dining destination known throughout the greater metropolitan area. I'm all for giving them the benefit of the doubt with this latest proposal.

Mr. Murphy,

My name is Clare Condon and I am an employee at Blend111 and college student at George Mason University. I've lived in Vienna my entire life, and have seen businesses and people come and go as a result. I clearly remember witnessing the parking lot behind Blend111 and Bazins transform into a patio, and the results of it cannot be understated — it allowed the families of Vienna and the surrounding area come together to enjoy new cuisines, and, more importantly, spend time together in a COVID safe atmosphere. Although COVID cases are dwindling down, the patio remains a key aspect of our business, but also the beauty of the gem that Church Street is. There's a reason I haven't left Vienna in the 21 years I've lived here, and that's due to the historic preservation of the town, which allows people to come together and share once-in-a-lifetime experiences with one another.

We should retain the Patio under the Church Street Vision plan through a speedy process that does not result in a gap of time where the patio cannot be used.

Warmest regards,
Clare Condon

I support the continued use of the outdoor patio. It helps to bring "life and liveliness" along Church St.

People cannot help but turn their heads when they walk by and see lights, hear patrons enjoying themselves with food, drink, and conversation.

Please consider to continue the patios use.

Thank you.

The "eating outside" option has proved to be important for sustaining eating establishments during the pandemic. It has also revealed itself to be an absolute pleasure to diners like myself who enjoy the "European-like" atmosphere of cafes. It's a new chapter for American dining and hopefully zoning regs everywhere will allow it to become permanent.

We love the Blend 111 patio! If it hadn't been for the Blend 111 patio we would not have spent nearly as much money on dining in Vienna as we did in 2021, and if they are not allowed to continue with patio dining then we will likely spend a lot less in 2022.
